Blank and informal votes

A blank vote means that a voter has not voted for any of the candidates for a certain position.

A vote is considered informal if:

- The electoral officer thinks the voting paper used is not official.
- The voter voted for more candidates than positions available.
- It is not clear who the voter wanted to vote for.

What the different result stages mean

Preliminary results include votes received on the morning of Thursday 9 April. Special votes are still not included. Preliminary results were announced on Thursday 9 April 2026.

Final results and official results include all votes, including special votes. They were declared on Friday 10 April 2026.
